

ROHAN SANDHIR

His paintings are mostly acrylics, as he like the playfulness of the colors...the way they can mix and mingle with each other, flows about anywhere without any prejudices. He takes photography also as a means of creating art. He likes to mix the boundaries of painting and photography, so that the subject can be seen beyond its medium of creation.

He has been part of many exhibitions in India and his artworks have been appreciated by critics and buyers as well.

Rohan says, "By profession I work as a game artist, but I use my spare time to know my inner conscience. My hobbies lie in painting, photography, music and writing. For me, all these are a means to understand myself more deeply, and stay truthful to my nature."
